Painting the picture – The art of visualizing knowledge on historic colours

19th–20th April 2018 in Malmö

This years Paintforum focuses on how the profession of building conservation can improve the way we communicate findings and interpretation of historic paint schemes. How can knowledge on materials and their application be presented to enhance understanding and enjoyment of built heritage?

There are no doubt many ongoing projects investigating paint schemes in historic buildings around the country. We wish to put the spotlight on some inspiring examples, where results have lead to an increased interest and understanding of the decorative history of built heritage.

Cultural Heritage surely profits from colourful heritage experiences. Join us at Paintforum 2018 to discuss both researchers and craftsmens methods for visualizing historic paints.

Please contact us if you have been part of a project, you wish to present at Paintforum!
